

Dear Life

Ross Copperman

Dear life, I hope you don't mind that I'm writing this song about you
Dear life, I spent all my mind since the day I started to doubt you Dear life, you know that I tried to recognize the sad conviction that surrounds you
Dear life, I hope I can find another reason to conceive the world without you

There's times that I feel I'm alone
There's times like I know where to go
I just want to make believe
Life can be so sweet
If that's alright
And I just want to live my dreams
Be all that I can be
If that's alright
If that's alright

Dear life, it's time that I told you how lately I've placed my world around you
This time, I'm walking the line to realize this painful sorrow that compounds you Crazy lies, when they dance in denial they understand that their fear has lost its value
Here lies, a soul that was lost until I searched for the reasons and I found you

There's times that I feel I'm alone
There's times like I know where to go
I just want to make believe
Life can be so sweet
If that's alright
And I just want to live my dreams, be all that I can be
If that's alright
If that's alright

Too many days, well I see through these lies, can never Too many ways, how to hide my disguise
And fight through the demons and open my eyes
They don't know
Dear life, I know I'll find my way

I just want to make believe
Life can be so sweet
If that's alright
And I just want to live my dreams
Be all that I can be
If that's alright
If that's alright
If that's alright
If that's alright
If that's alright
If that's alright

If that's alright
If that's alright
