

One Level Down

Rotersand

Awoke and found myself Lying on a wooden floor Thought this had come to an end
I won't be shattered anymore
But the floor slipped to the walls
And had me crashing down again

One level down,
another round,
One battle lost,
when will I reach the final ground?
One level down,
what have I found?
Time and again
I'm lying shattered on the ground

Where did I fail, did I go wrong?
There is no crime I could confess I just keep tossing floor to floor
This must be purgatory's taste

And as I fall I'm crying out
I do surrender
I know there is no end, no soil will ever hold me safe

One level down,
another round,
One battle lost,
when will I reach the final ground?
One level down,
what have I found?
Time and again
I'm lying shattered on the ground

One level down,
another round,
One battle lost,
when will I reach the final ground?
One level down,
what have I found?
Time and again
I'm lying shattered on the ground