The Fire

Rotersand

Frightened souls rushing underground Sirens wailing again The hail of death is pounding closer now Spreading the horror again

Close to you lying face to face Fused like in final embrace Here we are, almost ecstasy All the space and time confined in you and me

You quiver, you sigh
Above us the lightning, the fire