

Perfect

Rupert Holmes

You were perfect, you were perfectly human
You were perfect, you were so unassuming
Yet so perfect
There's this way you have of tossing your hair
Like the world isn't there

And I saw this, and on closer inspection
You were flawless, you were close to perfection
You were perfect
There's no more I can say I've just said it

All you are is all you need to be
All you need to be is you
All your dreams are safe to share with me
'Cause I'll be there to see them through

And we're perfect, well, at least in our own eyes
We've begun it, we've grown up and we've grown wise
Darn it, we're as good as it gets and we've got it

All you are is all you need to be
All you'll ever need to be is you
And all your dreams are safe to share with me
'Cause I'll be there to see them through

We are perfect, I know I'm not that objective
But we're perfect, and though I've lost all perspective
Still I've found you, and I'm easy to please
As long as you're near, and when I have you here
Life is perfect, perfect, perfect
