

Closer To The Heart

Rush

And the men who hold high places, must be the ones to start

A                                G                                D    A5                                G                                D    A5                                G

To mold a new reality, closer to the heart, closer to the heart

Blacksmith and the Artist, reflect it in their art

They forge their creativiyy, closer to the heart, closer to the heart

Philosiphers and plowmen, each must know his part

To sew a new mentallity, closer to the heart, closer to the heart

A                                G                                D                                G                                A

oh, you can be the captain, and I will draw the chart

A                                G                                D    A5                                G

Sailing into destiny, closer to the heart
