

Open Up The Sky

Sam Tsui

Taste the air, I know a storm is coming
Can't be scared this time
Made a vow I'd dare the clouds to Open up the sky, open up the sky
Catch my breath, could run for cover
But there's nowhere left to hide
Here it comes, the thunder drums,
I have to let the heavens divide

I can't keep the rain from coming down
I've tried to explain away what I'm feeling now
I won't be the one who never tried,
So open up the sky, open up the sky, open up the sky

So open up the sky

Soak my skin, I've spent too long behind
My window, scared to choose
But this is real, and what it feels like
With nothing left to lose, nothing left to lose
So let it pour, and flood the floors
So I can start again tonight
Oh, yesterday is washed away,
I've never seen the heavens so bright

I can't keep the rain from coming down
I've tried to explain away what I'm feeling now
I won't be the one who never tried,
So open up the sky, open up the sky, open up the sky

So open up the sky,
Let it pour, let it pour

I can't keep the rain from coming down,
I've tried to explain away what I'm feeling now
I won't be the one who never tried
So open the sky, so open the sky

I can't keep the rain from coming down
I've tried to explain away what I'm feeling now
I won't be the one who never tried
So open up the sky, open up the sky, open up the sky
I can't keep the rain from coming down
I've tried to explain away what I'm feeling now
So open up the sky, open up the sky, open up the sky
