

Harbor For A Lonely Heart

Sammy Kershaw

One day she saw with eyes wide open
She did not know much at the start
And in her time of need
She cried for a harbor for a lonely heart

Too many years in many places
Too many lines and many parts
A search in hungry eyes
Saw only traces of a harbor for a lonely heart

Calling out to the heavens
From the voice in her soul
In the silent night it beckons
A star that guides her home

The moon reflecting on the waters
Lights a pathway through the dark
And held in unseen hands
She drifts for a harbor for a lonely heart

Calling out to the heavens
From the voice in her soul
In the silent night it beckons
A star that guides her home

The moon reflecting on the waters
Lights a pathway through the dark
And held in unseen hands
She drifts for a harbor for a lonely heart
Held in unseen hands Lord
She drifts for a harbor for a lonely heart
