

Alone

San Cisco

Does love drift away, a little bit every day
While you wait, and while you're shaking down
[?] are you, I know the way you move
In the evening light, you're wearing lavender tonight

Oh, you're drifting miles away
When I get home will you still feel the same

When I feel alone, I think of home
I think of home with you
When I feel alone, I think of home
The lavender light and you

Does love drift away, a little bit every day
While you wait, you can shake me down
I want your love, wanna hold you in my hands
Cause you're the only one that truly understands on the phone, I'm hanging up honey, and coming home

When I feel alone, I think of home
I think of home with you
When I feel alone, I think of home
The lavender light and you