Sea Of Consciousness

Seals & Crofts

In the sea of consciousness I knew you, knew you, knew you. In the sea of consciousness you loved me, loved me, loved me. But this world is a dark world, with a black sun. Can I run to you? And ah, just the thought of you makes me wander back To the innocence you gave me, so long ago. Am I too late to go? In the sea of consciousness you called me, called me, called me. In the sea of consciousness I answered, answered, answered. But this world is a dark world, with a black sun. Can I run to you? And your perfection's perfectness have the mercy in Which we all came to know you, so long ago. Am I too late to go? Sea of Consciousness. Am I too late to go?
