```
Well I saw my face in the mirror
And I am I believe a growing curiosity
Hold my feet to the fire
Cause I am I believe a quivering atrocity
```

Sowing seeds of doubt
That we can't live without
Saw my face in the mirror
And I am, I believe a trembling monstrosity

And yeah I live my life like a broken-hearted failure I'm trying to shed some light on the scars left by the razors

Well I quell my fears with a shiver
Yet I am I believe incapable of anything
So much more to deliver
But I am I believe a swollen wound without the sting

Sowing seeds that sprout disease to take us out Throw myself in the river Cause I have I believe this viral animosity

I live my life like a broken-hearted failure
I'm trying to shed some light on the scars left by the razors

What else can I say
What else can I say
What else can I say
What else can I
Say for myself
I'm terrified

And yeah I live my life like a broken-hearted failure I'm trying to shed some light on the scars left by the razors Again