

If you can't forget your sorrows
Seek the darkest place in your soul
Face the reason and you will
Find your way back home

Be prepared the truth lies inside you
It could be that you're not that strong
It's the only chance, you can break through
Or the winter will be long

When the leaves are falling
Take good care
Be carefull what you do
When the leaves are falling
It could be they cover everything around the tree

It's a long and lonely journey
Through the valleys of your heart
And there's no one who can
Show you where to go

Be prepared the truth lies inside you
It could be that you're not that strong
It's the only chance, you can break through
Or the winter will be long

When the leaves are falling
Take good care
Be carefull what you do
When the leaves are falling
It could be they cover everything around the tree
