

You're Never Alone

Shannon Noll

And you're walking down the dark side of the street
And you're feeling like a stranger, surrounded by defeat
And there's nowhere left to go in this fractured world
And there's no place left to hide

And you're haunted by the ghosts of who you were
And who you wanna be
And you thought you knew the story
But you forgot the words
And I wish that you could see what I see
And I wish that you could know oh, oh

Sometimes you have to lose it all
Close your eyes and take the fall
And then you'll know you're never alone
And every reason has a time
And when you feel you'll never find your way back home
You're never alone

It's the wind that blows through the stillness of the day
And the glimpse of sun that steals you out of the rain
And everybody's felt what you're feeling right now
And someday you will see, yeah, yeah, yeah

Sometimes you have to lose it all
Close your eyes and take the fall
And then you'll know you're never alone
And every reason has a time
And when you feel you'll never find your way back home
You're never alone

Sometimes we feel like it's falling apart
Till we open our eyes then we realise
We're still alive
What doesn't kill us makes us stronger
What doesn't break us, makes us better
And I'm wishing I could fix it
And I wish we were together
But there's someone by your side
I'm right here by your side
You're not alone, you're not alone

Sometimes you have to lose it all
Close your eyes and take the fall
And then you'll know, you know
Sometimes

Sometimes you have to lose it all
Close your eyes and take the fall
And then you'll know you're never alone
And every reason has a time
And when you feel you'll never find your way back home
You're never alone
