Soon

Shearwater

When no one else would suffer me, I threw myself at your ankles. So still we slept and were at peace above the winter traffic.

Soon, soon, come.

He treats his friends like customers, he treats me like a given, your letter read come down, you said, and let me know I'm living.

Soon, soon, soon, come.