Fatal

Sieges Even

You always told me I was the only one Aah - it's nothing serious "It's just for fun" And while I try to understand You whisper "All I feel, I feel for you" I believe you do "I never want to hurt your feelings, but please remember there was something you said" I always told you I practise tolerance Now I recognize that was a fatal utterance I always thought it would it would leave me cold Wish I could stay But I can't I know it was my fault an I've to take the blame And please don't say you love me - this would even mean more pa in Wish I could stay but my feelings force me to say I've to go Wish I could start it up again But who can change what feelings dictate? I talked without a thought Don't want you anymore