

Was there ever a time you didn't get it
You don't talk about life, you really live it
You see no need to fight your intuition
But when it's right, how can you lose
You look to the stars for inner visions
They tell you times get hard
But you won't never listen
They aiming straight for your heart
But you won't let em near it
Falling apart that something you won't do

Oh, I think I might've find me a queen
That glow, aura so fresh, so clean, I'll go
Tell me your ready so we can leave tonight
I'm down to ride if you'll be the guide
Oh I think might've found me the one, I do
You're about as real as they come, its true
Tell me you're ready and we can leave today
I'll be okay if you lead the way

You never rush
You take it slow
You know where the sky could fall
You know where to go
You know who you are

I look in your eyes and I get lost
Your momma raised you right
Went and made you priceless
Couldn't even try to pay the cost
She put it in your design, you can't be bought
Made a diamond, taking her time, she really fought
Now you shining, high in the sky you can't be caught
Ran into love a few times, never chased it
Knew it'd be yours in due time
You were patient, said you would know
When you were ready for it
So if you believe that we heading for it
I'd be a fool to not pursue girl
It doesn't get any sweeter than you girl

Oh, I think I might've find me a queen
That glow, aura so fresh, so clean, I'll go
Tell me your ready so we can leave tonight
I'm down to ride if you'll be the guide
Oh I think might've found me the one, I do
You're about as real as they come, its true
Tell me you're ready and we can leave today
I'll be okay if you lead the way

You never rush
You take it slow
You know where the sky could fall
You know where to go
You know who you are