

Next Time You'll Know

Sister Sledge

Looks like we're running out of time
Can't hide away
In nights no longer yours or mine

All things must change
It's so painful when nothing ever stays the same
But I must go on
While you run away from love, oh

Next time you'll know
Not to let my love go
When you feel afraid
And you can't love nobody
Next time you'll know
You must let your heart show
Till the dyin' day, my friend

Maybe I hurt too easily
But is it wrong
To feel betrayed when love can't be

You could change your mind
No excuses could ever make me change mine
But I've got to be strong
And believe I'll find the love, oh

Next time you'll know
Not to let my love go
When you feel afraid
And you can't love nobody
Next time you'll know
You must let your heart show
Till the dyin' day, my friend, no

Oh... believe it

Next time you'll know
Not to let my love go
When you feel afraid
And you can't love nobody
Next time you'll know
You must let your heart show
Till the dyin' day, my friend, whoa... oh...

Next time you'll know
Not to let my love go
When you feel afraid
And you can't love nobody
Next time you'll know
You must let your heart show
Till the dyin' day
