

Eyes

Skylark

Eyes, like a spark throughout the dark
Like a cloud with lights and thunders
Like a torch inside your heart

Eyes, like a fawn lost in the fog
And forsaken by the horizon
In the middle of the storm
But these eyes can lead the way

Close your eyes and fly directly to the north
Grab your eyes and dive in the center of your soul
Close your eyes and fly tomorrow or today
Give your eyes a chance to see beyond the haze

The innocence has melt and now it's sand
(The sound of time will strike before the end)
So ride your eyes
Towards the promise land

Eyes, are they able to restart?
Would they turn a dream to nightmare?
Would they tear a world apart?
Cause these eyes can be so bad...