

There was a time when
I was certain of so many things
I was complacent
And that's how I hardened

I could not see that I was wrong
I thought I could do it on my own
I lost my hope and fell so far
Somehow, I landed in your arms

There was a time when
I was certain of so many things
As I've grown older
The list has narrowed

I could not see that I was wrong
I thought I could do it on my own
I lost my hope and fell so far

Somehow, I landed in your arms

I couldn't see you
You never left me
It's not about me
It's all about you
When I can't see that I am wrong
When I can't do it on my own
When I lose my hope and fall so far
Don't let me run from your arms

I couldn't hear you
Though you were shouting
How well you know me
Yet you pursue me

There was a time when
There was a time when
There was a time when
