

Anyday Woman

Slim Dusty

If you don't love her, you'd better let her go,
You'll never fool her, you're bound to let it show
Love's so hard to take when you have to fake
Everything in return you just preserve her
When you serve her a little tenderness.

If she's a woman, she'll try to make it last
If you're a man now, you'd better end it fast
There's no reason here, no treason here
Just the way your woman smiles,
And she has no blame, she has the shame
She just loves you.

[Instrumental]

And it's not easy to undo the done,
Or to speak too freely, to just anyone,
And if it takes more than you bargained for
Then boy it's time you learned,
Not to walk so proud, talk so loud,
When you're on the prowl.

If she's a woman, she'll try to make it last
If you're a man now, you'd better end it fast
There's no reason here, no treason here
Just the way your woman smiles,
And she has no blame, she has the shame
She just loves you.
