The Thrill

Watch me now

Gave in for the moment A lifetime of thrills Paid up to deserve it Made up with my pills Now will you ever learn And make it all just turn?

An ironic pattern A foolish will A sweet reputation A passion to kill Falling down again And feel the core getting chilled

How it lies, a twisted device Giving you up ten times Stop the search and you will find And dismantle the thrill

Hunting for closure The story goes on A cancer that bleeds Won't leave till you're done Like streams of broken glass Passing through your veins

Obsessed with obsession Corroded from guilt Such a drag of progression The tears getting spilled Now will you ever learn And make it all just turn?

How it lies, a twisted device Giving you up ten times Stop the search and you will find

How it lies, a twisted device Filling you up to deny Stop the search and you will find

I'm playing alone and will master Talking to myself and will find out I'm playing alone and will master Talking to myself

I'm playing alone and will master Talking to myself and will find out How to retain ever after, the pain, the sound The bottomless game I was taught

How it lies, a twisted device Giving you up ten times Stop the search and you will find Soilwork

How it lies, a twisted device Filling you up to deny Stop the search and you will find And dismantle the thrill
