

A Window to the Sun

Sol Invictus

Splinter the world with our fears
Walk the wooden road, branches tear
The mouth opens, but no breath comes
The furrowed face, life undone
Broken sky, watched with scarecrow eyes
Follow the cracks in the face of the world

A window to the sun
A window to the sun

Garden climbs the wall and runs free
Strangles statues, crosses the stone sea
Climbs marble shattered stairs
The future beckons with no eyes to stare
The world is rusty with blood and tears
Let this dawn come and light our fears

A window to the sun
