

I Guess It's Gonna Rain Today

Sondre Lerche

You better know by now she said
I made no effort to defend myself against her claims

There wasn't anything to add
And so I blurted out I guess it's gonna rain today
What a silly thing to put you through
I know better

Lost for words because of losing you
Didn't I promise you
I knew better

Hurry home before the sky breaks out you can't predict things that happen all the time
Hurry back don't take my word for it babe
I don't know but I guess it's gonna rain today
I don't know but I guess it's gonna rain today

She said to get the hell away
And left me standing in the doorway like a tired cliché
I thought I had it all pinned down
Now I'm the guy who said I guess it's gonna rain today
Oh the fine line between street smartness and a smartass
All the skipping beats of confidence and the drum roll that you thought you could play

Hurry home before the sky breaks out
no point predicting things that happen all the time
Hurry back don't take my word for it babe
I don't know but I guess it's gonna rain today
I don't know but I guess it's gonna rain today

But I'm sure that you've known this all along
Oh I'm sure that you've known this all along