Angel Song

Souldrainer

At my daily visit to the graveyard, visiting my loved ones grav e

Someone was watching me as I put the flowers next to the stone She approached abd said it was time
She appered to be and angel here only for me

I never thought that I would die without saying goodbye I never thought that I would leave everything behind I never thought it would be now, I just want to stay I never thought it would be in such a painful way

I ran away, I tried to forget what I've been told I could not accept, I never thought of it like this What? Is this how it's like?

Ut didn't matter how fast I ran

She was always there, waiting for me

She took up a knife and started to cut me everywhere

Her eyes were black, full of hate and I was really scared She took up a knife and started to cut me everywhere