

A Million Little Pieces

Stephen Bishop

Not gonna wander through the desert
Searching for someone that I used to be
Not gonna send my soul down to the river
To be blessed when I'm already free

Now I'm driving down the highway with a song in my head
And the feeling of you loving me
But all those dreams
They're just scattered in the wind

Just like a million little pieces
Rolling round the sun
Never looking back
To where I could've run
Just like a million little pieces
Like a million little pieces
And someday I'm gonna find them all

No one to blame but myself
I still have you on my mind, nobody else

If I fell on my face, maybe I liked the view
Sometimes I still hunger for the feeling of you
You know I never cry
But my heart broke in two

A million little pieces
Floating in the air
Never looking back
No, I really didn't care
Just like a million little pieces
Like a million little pieces
And someday I'm going to find them all

Just like a million little pieces
Like a million little pieces
And someday I will find them all
