

Since You Went Away

The Strangers

Since she went away
I thought of all the things I should have say
I thought of all the things we do
And now it seems so far and unreal

Since she went away (since she went away)
You know, I've cried almost every day (almost every day for you
)
You know, it's funny how she went
One second she was here and then she left (she was here)

Since she went away (since she went away)
I waited every minute of every day
Whereas before well time flew by
Now it's decided to watch me cry
If you woman ever want to hurt someone
And the way she make me love her was the best way too
Breaker young men's heart

Since she went away
Since she went away (since she went away)
Since she went away
Since she went away (since she went away)
Since she went away
Since she went away (since she went away)
