

Requiem

Strung Out

The fire's growing stronger as it changes direction (Can you feel my [?])

As animals secretly wish our destruction (They watch and wait)

The city we've abandoned, burnt away in the distance (We are no one)

Like stray dogs left behind to wait for dead masters, long gone

Behold the fields of fire as they cleanse our infection (And conquer all)

Let smoke and suffocation be the peace that you offer (The lonely one)

And California dreamers and skeletons wander (In lithium)

Like gasoline and crucifix, Roman candles and the 4th of July

A black fire [?] we dance, we pay

The [?] drown out and the lovers pray

The sun is gone and the moon is high

The ones who lead and the ones who have died

[?] gone away

This black I feel [?]

No words are left, forbidden song

About how we live and we die alone
