I Guess I Remembered It Wrong

Superchunk

I remember flying Straight over the top When the car it hits the curb How could we have stopped?

Passed right over, went around Passed right over, went around Candle showed up into my eye Up from the ground

I know there is no way It could have happened that way There is no way it could've Happened any other way

I guess I remembered it wrong I guess I remembered it wrong I think that my memory's strong but Whatever you say

I remember digging up the yard I remember carrying you from the car And I stuffed the valuables into the seat Everything was brighter than it seemed

I know there is no way It could have happened that way There is no way it could've Happened any other way

I guess I remembered it wrong I guess I remembered it wrong I think that my memory's strong but Whatever you say

It's all coming back to me now It's all coming back to me now It's all coming back to me now It's all coming back to me now

I guess I remembered it wrong I guess I remembered it wrong I think that my memory's strong but Whatever you say

It's all coming back to me now It's all coming back to you now
