In The Eye

Suzanne Vega

If you were to kill me now right here I would still look you in the eye And I would burn myself into your memory as long as you were still alive

I would live inside of you I'd make you wear me like a scar And I would burn myself into your memory and run through everything you are

I would not run, I would not turn, I would not hide [X2]

In the eye

If you were to kill me now right here I would still look you in the eye And I would burn myself into your memory as long as you were still alive

I would not run, I would not turn, I would not hide [X2]

In the eye Look me in the eye
