What Doesn't Kill You

You can take away my wings Because I will never be an angel You can take away my dreams I just have one, it's about loving the enemy

You can take away my pride I don't need it in this forgotten town You can take away my soul Forever and always it will be the unknown

(How can I be mad at you) (When you don't even exist?) No one hears when I cry Would you care if I died? Failing point is so near Is it your fault or is it my mind?

Speak your mind, speak your mind or live on with the lie

No one hears when I cry Would you care if I died? Failing point is so near Is it your fault or is it my mind?

No one hears when I cry Would you care if I died? Failing point is so near Is it your fault or is it my mind?

Takida