Dark Clouds

Teenage Fanclub

The wind it haunts the valleys The rivers running away The cities and the soil The pavements, stones and the clay

Dark clouds are following you But they'll drift away I watched the night turning into a day

The memories, illusions Are pouring over my mind The beautiful confusion A voyage into the night

Dark clouds are following you But they'll drift away I watched the night turning into a day

The lovers and the mothers The summers spent in the sun The living and the dying The race is still to be run

Dark clouds are following you But they'll drift away I watched the night turning into a day

Dark clouds are following you But they'll drift away I watched the night turning into a day
