

All I Have to Give the World Is Me

Tegan and Sara

Faced myself in the mirror last night
I looked for things you said you like
The person I am when no one's around
The girl I don't want to be found
Don't you ever wanna change?
Don't you ever wanna change?
Talked myself outta being me
Didn't wanna fight my own worst enemy
Wiped me out, did it all from view
Destroyed myself, became more like you
No one's very real today
No one's very real today

All I have to give this world is me, and that's it
All I have to show this world is me, and that's it
Just me, just me, just me
And that's it

Convinced myself not to be so strange
I hope I still take your breath away
I look in the mirror, I see the face
The one who worries, it can't change
You don't have to change, you don't have to change
You don't have to change

All I have to give this world is me, and that's it
All I have to show this world is me, and that's it
Just me, just me, just me
And that's it

Staring down my two halves in the glass
Feels like a heart attack
Telling me to choose one or the other
I get so panicked
I don't wanna lose, but if I choose love
What will happen then?
Staring down my two halves in the glass
What then?
Go ahead and choose, go ahead and choose
Go ahead and choose

All I have to give this world is me, and that's it
All I have to show this world is me, and that's it

I don't wanna lose, but if I choose love
What will happen then?
Staring down my two halves in the glass
What then?
