

Awkward Kisser

Telekinesis

You once said I was an awkward kisser
And I said it was a lie
We booked a flight to another country
Tell my friends I said goodbye hiii ow-whoa
We walked for miles with no end in sight
Hand in hand we will grow old ow-whoa
Singing songs of our summers' past
I will never let this go no no no

And when I woke up
You were by my side
And when I woke up
You were by my side

Cherry blossoms and a cherry soda
Picnics in the country side

Yes you said but I don't mind hiii ow-whoa
And we sat around for several hours
As the sun began to fall no o-whoaa
And I looked you straight in the eyes
And nothing really mattered
Nothing really mattered at all

And when I woke up
You were by my side
And when I woke up
You were by my side
And when I woke uuup
You were by my side
And when I woke up
You were by my side

You once said I was an awkward kisser
And I said it was a lie
We booked a flight to another country
