

You want her every day you want her every night you take her every day you take her every night she is what you need to feel alright you cant without her by your side
she is what you need to feel alright
you cant without her by your side

you think you can touch the sky
you believe you will never die
you think you can touch the sky
you believe you will never die
her skin is white as snow heaven is near one more step to go
her skin is white as snow
heaven is near one more step to go

she is the white angel
she cares for you
she brings you joy
she is everything you need
she is the white angel
she is always there she never let you down she is everything you want