

The Clouds Rolled In

The 88

The clouds rolled in
And I was there without you
And waited for the rain to pour
Cause I was there without you
And wondered what I did before
When I was there without you
With strength enough to find the door
When I was there without you
And strained to think what I am for
Cause I was there without you