The Anix

I see the separation is coming but I don't know where to go we're just different people in different places stuck in the undertow you didn't have to say anything I know the tricks you have up your sleeve

you made your move and got me into this game I ask you why but you can't say no one can lose but still our luck hasn't changed nobody ever wins this game we're complicating all that is simple as easy as it is the afflictions come in a ruthless whisper much louder than a kiss these won't be the last words I say I hope a comeback comes into play

you can't say no one can lose but still our luck hasn't changed nobody ever wins this game (2x)

you can't say no one can lose but still our luck hasn't changed

you made your move I ask you why but you can't say No one can lose Nobody ever wins this game
