

Capital Breath

The Bear Quartet

To live like that
Out of everybody's way
And lie down upon a sunfresh trace
Of a warm embrace
Until it's gone
I admit
Sometimes people make me

First silence soon another
In between we lose track of each other
So I shiver to forget them all
I don't feel related
To any truth that's naked

And in the river,
Leaves that lost their air
So beautiful to see it overflow
And drown, everyone
And then it's gone
Then the moment's gone

First silence soon another
It always tracks me down
No questions asked
No answers around

Time pauses
For the pain it causes
There is no reply
