I Worship Only What You Bleed

The Black Dahlia Murder

Oh its flowing through me combusting with contempt rationality abandoning chemically lead astray stepping outside the confines of this circle bane of society be come

I'm about to cross the line and take a life nothing can stop me now murderous functioning an animal within me speaks nothing but blood could satisfy these carnal needs

I am your master superior I reign poised just above you on this death distorted chain the need to kill transcends temptation I'm sick and in need of blood withdrawals haunt me taunt me sickly baiting my deeds can never be undone

I am your shepherd cloaked in obscenity heed these sickening words I worship only what you bleed I am your master superior I reign poised just above you on death distorted chain