One Kiss Led To Another

My girlfriend was Babysitting down the street So I bought some soda pop And sandwich meat

She laid it on the table And I took a seat But I never got the Chance to drink or eat

Cause one kiss led to another And another and another One kiss led to another And another and another

The lights were low When she turned on the radio I could hear the music Playing soft and low

I said, we better dance Before I flip my lid We both got up to dance But we never did

I thought the night was young Until I saw the clock The clock was striking midnight It was quite a shock

I started for the door But she grabbed my sleeve She put her arms around me Man, I couldn't leave

One kiss led to another And another

The Coasters