

House of Cards

The Cooper Temple Clause

Turn off this fire
Switch off the lights
It's time to retire
It's no time to fight
This house is in pieces
I never saw it falling
It was such a beautiful thing

What does it matter now
You'll never come home
What does it matter now
You'll never come home with me again
Not now

I burst the bubble
And I broke your heart
It seems I'm in trouble
Let's go back to the start
'Cause all I want is you
And all I have is wrong
And just to have you back in the place where you belong

You understand me when I don't even understand myself

What does it matter now
You'll never come home