

Who Needs Enemies?

The Cooper Temple Clause

My oh my, I'm seeing the potential
Lets just see what we can do
First we'll take you down back to the meathouse
And then you'll hold their hands again

I know tricks that you could only dream of
Looks like it's your lucky day
A killer key change
Is all you'll ever need

But who needs enemies
When you've got friends
Now your hands are tied
And who needs accidents
When you've got me
Now I'm on your side

Now lets try and teach you how to mingle
Then we'll teach you how to kill
Lies will always be your best of best friends
Never be alone again

A killer key change
Is all you'll ever need

But who needs enemies
When you've got friends
Now your hands are tied
And who needs accidents
When you've got me
Now I'm on your side

All these animals
That you call friends
Now they're on their knees
Man, you tricked 'em all

You played the fool
So damn easy to please
I made my name in function rooms
And drifting through the walls

Come on let me teach you boy
Teach you 'bout it all

But who needs enemies
When you've got friends
Now your hands are tied
And who needs accidents
When you've got me
Now I'm on your side

All these animals
That you call friends
Now they're on their knees

You played the fool
So damn easy to please
