O come a' ye tramps and hawker-lads an' gaitherers o' bla'

That tramp the country roun' and roun', come listen one and a'

I'll tell tae ye a rovin' tale, an' places I hae been Far up into the snowy north, or sooth by Gretna Green.

I've seen the high Ben Nevis that gangs towerin' tae the moon $\ \ \,$

I've been roun' by Crieff an' Callander an' by Bonny

I've been by Nethy's silvery tide an' places ill tae ken

Far up into the stormy north lies Urquart's fairy glen

Sometimes noo I laugh tae mysel' when dodgin' alang the ${\sf road}$

Wi' a bag o' meal slung upon my back, my face as broun's a toad

Wi' lumps o'cheese and tattie-scones or breid an' braxie ham

Nae thinking whar' I'm comin' frae nor thinkin' whar I'm gang.

I'm happy in the summer-time beneath the dark blue sky Nae thinkin' in the mornin' at nicht where i'm gang to lie

Bothies or byres or barns, or oot amangst the hay And if the weather does permit, I'm happy a' the day.

Loch Katrine and Loch Lomond, they've oft been seen by me

The Dee, the Don, the Devron, that a' flows tae the sea Dunrobin Castle, by the way, I nearly had forgot And the reckless stanes o'cairn that mairks the hoose o' John o' Groat.

I've been by bonny Gallowa', an' often roun' Stranraer My business leads me anywhere, I travel near an' far I've got that rovin' notion I wouldna like tae loss For It's my daily fare an' as much'll pay my doss.

I think I'll gang tae Paddy's Lan', I'm makin' up my mind

For Scotland's greatly altered noo, I canna raise the $\ensuremath{\mathsf{wind}}$

But if I can trust in Providence, if Providence should prove true $$

I'll sing ye's a' of Erin's Isle when I come back to you.
