Waves

The Dangerous Summer

I'll take my time and move on from all of this
It's all about the rolling waves
You leave me cold
I'm wandering and positive
So what if I don't want to wait
They're not tying me off right now
And though it doesn't make sense
I lost all feeling inside my mouth
And I can't handle my hands

You cover the ground
To everyone else it seems like nothing is sound
But tell you just how far you'll run
So, keep on looking up

You'll find the courage to paint a world that burns like Hell
Not for allure, but mostly for yourself
Cause you needed escape in a dark kind of way
It's a sentiment you'll never get used to
And I don't want to hear it
I've seen soul in the nerves of every feeling you fought
And maybe it's enough to move us on
From where we started off

You cough up blood, but stand up to anyone
But never do it out of rage
Just build your home and surround it with everyone
Who always seem to feel your pain
If I'm finally at my doubts
I take a look at my friends
Don't make a ceiling inside your clouds
Just let them grow with your plans
And that's the way it ought to stay

You'll find the courage to paint a world that burns like Hell
Not for allure, but mostly for yourself
Cause you needed escape in a dark kind of way
It's a sentiment you'll never get used to
And I don't want to hear it
I've seen soul in the nerves of every feeling you fought
And maybe it's enough to move us on
From where we started off

I see the side of things that won't show up
I'm not involved in that
I see that art is making something loud
When it's silent out I yell
And this is in my head
I don't need a writer to tell me how I breathe
This is the war to end all wars
Cause some say...

You'll find the courage to paint a world that burns like Hell
Not for allure, but mostly for yourself
Cause you needed escape in a dark kind of way
It's a sentiment you'll never get used to
And I don't want to hear it

I've seen soul in the nerves of every feeling you fought
And maybe it's enough to move us on
From where we started off

I've seen soul in the nerves of every feeling you fought
And maybe it's enough to move us on
From where we started off