Hit Me with a Hit

The Flower Kings

"If you really wanted to, you could write a hit you could cut the corners and you could make things fit Are you really ready to believe it? Are you really taking my advice? Do you have a mission, can you see it? Do you really feel that you are alright?"

And soon you'll dine with presidents and soon your name will get that nicer ring You'll be "the one familiar face" in hollow echoes from a world you sing

"We don't want no bloody poem We don't want your second thoughts Don't you think you overdo it? Have you heard that less is more?" Are you really ready to believe it? Are you really taking my advice? Do you have a mission, can you see it? Do you really feel that you are alright?"

And soon you'll dine with presidents and soon your name will get that nicer ring You'll be "the one familiar face" in hollow echoes from a world you sing

"You don't have to fight for recognition You don't have to sweat to get the gold You just have to shake those two and listen You just have to do what you are told"

And soon you'll dine with presidents and soon your name will get that nicer ring You'll be "the one familiar face" in hollow echoes from a world you sing
