

Stardust We Are

The Flower Kings

Look for no tears in my eyes
Sing me no sweet lullaby
I made myself a heart out of stone, that I can call my own

Remember the days of the shoreline
The sun made the surfers go blind
Once, painfully trapped between childhood and fame
Now that's my name

Someone please tear down the walls of this room
Don't leave me deaf-dumb in this silent cocoon
I gave my soul freely for a place in the sun
I know that I'm not the only one

Shadow flies, dead end of fame
Them neon lights spelling my name
Fear the day when light goes out
What's it all about?

The dust that once came to my eyes, suddenly left me unwise
Painfully trapped between childhood and fame
Now, it's a shame

Astray like a leaf in the rapids of time
Once touch the stars, then back to the grind
Back to the level where humans thread
Exploded back into the head.....

Someone please tear down the walls of this room
Don't leave me deaf-dumb in this silent cocoon
I gave my soul freely for a moment of truth
Like a servant and knight to boot
.....see me, touch me, feel me, will I live forever
Hold me, teach me, thrill me, in your love forever

Let me guide you to a world unknown
Kiss the frog and kiss the lizards throne

See them crawling out of dusty holes
Ghosts of yesterday, now twice as bold
Set the wheels in motion once again
Flames they change, the empires remain

Dare I dream of better days to come
Have I precious statements still undone
Will you follow me to stars unknown, or will I end up traveling alone

Let me guide you to a world unknown
Kiss the frog and kiss the lizards throne
Teach me, tell me, will I live forever.....?

Now see how we fly to heavenly high
Swimming the ocean and spin' the stars
And so the great net will fall apart

So don't forget the human touch,
The word of mouth
This roundabout, we love so much,

Now see how our thoughts are running free
Run for leader and semi God
And once again we pay in blood
So don't forget the human trial,
The cry of love, the spark of life, dance thru the fire

Stardust we are
Close to divine
Stardust we are
See how we shine