

Oceans Between Us

The Icarus Account

There's an ocean between us
There's a hole in my soul
And God only knows just how far I will go
But tell me you love me and tell me again
I'll wait for forever
I'll wait 'til the end

I'm crossing state lines and highways that I've never known
There's miles and miles that I've yet to go
But tell me you need me and tell me again
You'll wait for forever
You'll wait 'til the end

And there in your arms
Is where I will lay
And there in your arms
Is where I will stay

Where my heart beats faster now faster now
My lungs breathe deeper now deeper now
And you're the only reason I come home
My love

There's a black and white picture of you in my car
I wonder if love can exist from afar
But tell me you love me and tell me again
You'll wait for forever
You'll wait 'til the end

And there in your arms
Is where I will lay
And there in your arms
Is where I will stay

Where my heart beats faster now faster now
My lungs breathe deeper now deeper now
And you're the only reason I come home
And my knees get weaker now weaker now
Your taste it gets sweeter now sweeter now
You're the only reason I come home
Oh you're the only reason I come
You're the only one
You're the only one

You're asleep on the couch when I finally arrive
A kiss on your forehead brings you back to life
I tell you I love you and I tell you again
You are mine forever
And I'm yours
Yours 'til the end

I'm yours til the end
