

I'll Do It Anyway

The Lemonheads

Bless my soul maybe I should leave it alone
I'm sure it would be safer to stay at home
You've made your point it's pointless
And it's all gonna burn
I'm in no state to skate but I'm gonna take my turn
I know you may never really understand
Why I go through these motions with my hands
It's a gesture at best but my body's in the right place
To fall in your arms now and wait to save face I'll do
It anyway no matter what they feel
Ain't got all the facts but I got a hunch
And I know the deal I'll do it anyway
Shine what you might have heard
There's something at hand it just ain't all planned
It's still a beautiful world
American men you know them they just gotta be right
When it's left to me often times I'd rather not fight
They make a big deal out of everything and they got too many guns
And just to make 'em mad I'm gonna do it for fun
I'll do it anyway over the barren plains
I'm still a girl
It's just a horse and I got the reigns
