Blood Red

My, my, my

The Maine

What fangs you have Once upon a time Your eyes were wide not dead Then all the energy Reversed the chemistry Your blood it mixed with all the chemicals in your head Now all you see is red You should have warned me You were blood red Oh you're blood red baby It came without warning Now I'm wounded You're so ruthless darling Once all the energy Reversed the chemistry Your blood it mixed with all the chemicals in your head Now all you're seeing is Blood red What's it like Living with your disease Walk the streets at night Looking like a well-dressed thief Once all the chemistry Destroyed the memories Your blood it mixed with all the chemicals in your head Now all you see is red You should have warned me You were blood red Oh you're blood red baby It came without warning Now I'm wounded You're so ruthless darling Once all the energy Reversed the chemistry Your blood it mixed with all the chemicals in your head Now all you're seeing is Blood red You should have warned me You were blood red Oh you're blood red baby It came without warning Now I'm wounded You're so ruthless darling Once all the energy Reversed the chemistry Your blood it mixed with all the chemicals in your head Now all you're seeing is Blood red
