

Midnight Promises

The Marshall Tucker Band

Midnight promises all sound the same;
Say "I love you" just to play the game.
Midnight promises, ancient lies,
Think it over you never ask yourself why;

The feeling you get inside I know it's true,
that feelings normal and there ain't nothin' wrong;
Give it time,
there's no use to take a chance;
don't you go and fall in love after the first dance;

Midnight promises don't mean a thing,
especially in the early morning light,
Midnight promises won't make the church bells ring;
Midnight promises don't mean a thing...

Midnight promises look all the same;
Same old message with a different name;
and listen to your heart
and choose to make a scene'
'cause midnight promises don't mean a thing,

Midnight promises don't mean a thing,
especially in the early morning light,
Midnight promises won't make the church bells ring;
Midnight promises don't mean a thing...

Midnight promises don't mean a thing,
especially in the early morning light,
Midnight promises won't make the church bells ring;
Midnight promises don't mean a thing...
