

Storm Hit

The Mighty Mighty Bosstones

Smack dab in the eye of the storm Quite a ride just with the strength and size of it and I'm not sure what created this storm I feel safe in the eye of it now The commotion around me astounds me Tomorrow there's a solace which grounds me I've got both of my feet on the ground I'm not sure where to look for my head A tranquil madness I've found Or maybe it's found me instead Too late, ride it out Am I safe being on the inside? Just when I come down I'll relax and just wait out the ride I don't wanna run to my future But I sure want to run from my past Today I'm just gonna stay here and pray that the way that I feel will last If it lasted forever I know the last thing I'd do would be run Today I'm just gonna stay here And pray that the day's never done Too late, ride it out Am I safe being on the inside? Just when I get down I'll relax and just wait out the ride Am I here on my own? You might think that you are but you're not Am I here all alone? What you've asked for is just what you got Well I know the day has to end And I'm sure that the storm will go past While I'm here in the eye and the day's going by I'll enjoy the feeling I feel while it lasts If it lasted forever I know, the last thing I'd do would be run Today I'm just gonna stay here And pray that the day's never done Too late, ride it out Am I safe being on the inside? Just when I come down I'll relax and just wait out the ride Am I here all alone? You might think that you are but you're not Am I here on my own? What you've asked for is just what you've got.
