

I Won't Run Away

The New Amsterdams

Walk away today, I must leave you behind
Like we've waltzed around the words so many times
We remind in time the motions will repeat
But the distance doesn't finalize defeat
So it goes
There's a weight that never seems to let it go
And I'm passing through the atmosphere like smoke
On the way today, you're free from town to town
Every anecdote I lift gets written down
Every letter ever sent her does remind
That our memories are always on my mind
So it stays
Wait for the world to stop and I won't run away
Wait for the world to stop and I won't run away
Wait for the world to stop and I won't run away
At least not today
